

Im done with all the hatred with having to look perfect! i want people to stop judging me about everything! i want to be myself.

i want to stop seeing my reflection in the mirrors staring back at me showing me something else to change about myself.

i hate having to put makeup and products in my hair to please people and to just please myself by the way i look!

this isn't what i want. I need to love my flawz and im learning to Love Myself...
